Richard Preece smokes a cigarette in full view of the public in the food court of Ashford Designer Outlet last Friday. Security guards at the outlet just walked off when he refused to extinguish his nicotine-fix

EXCLUSIVE

BY EMILY HALL

A MILITANT smoker is touring the county and filming himself sparking up in public places to prove that the smoking ban is a flop.

Richard Preece has already tried puffing his Blue Windsors in shopping centres, council offices and police stations and, more recently, decided to try a quick fag in a magistrates court.

But despite hundreds of examples of public smoking, the 6ft 4ins tall nicotine-addict has yet to be given a single caution or fine and security patrols have never even moved him on.

The 25-year-old photographer said: "I hated the smoking ban from the start, but I became concerned when people, like pub landlords, started losing their livelihoods because of it.

"I decided to break the ban in the hope that I would get fined and I could then take it to court and fight it, because I simply do not believe these laws could be upheld.

"They are a breach of human rights."
Mr Preece, who is single, has smoked 20 a day since he was 18 and started his crusade in the Mall Chequers shopping centre in Maidstone last month, where he twice clashed with security.

But despite standing among shoppers, the chain-smoking snapper was only asked to smoke outside, a request he ignored.

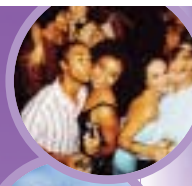

A few weeks later he took a walk around the Maidstone Gateway – home to hundreds of borough council workers – but he was able to smoke an entire fag in view of officers

Widdecombe is sure public will turn out to vote

■ BY ANNA WHITE

VOTERS will go to the polls tomorrow to decide the fate of the county council candidates.

People will have their chance to vote for who they want to represent them at County Hall from 7am-10pm on Thursday.

With the recent MPs expenses scandal damaging the public's trust in Government it is feared it could affect the local elections and people might not vote at all.

But the Conservative MP for Maidstone and the Weald, Ann Widdecombe, believes her constituents will turn out to vote as they still trust in the political system.

She said: "I'm sure there will be some fall-out, but Hugh Robertson (Tory MP for Mid Kent and Faversham) and I have not been caught up with any of this and that gives people complete confidence in their own MPs.

"I think there will be less of a reaction here than other places. Undeniably there will be some sort of a reaction when it comes to voting, but I trust people will vote sensibly."

Endorsed

With public confidence in the main parties low, other parties are optimistic this could be their time to get into County Hall.

UKIP, which has candidates in five Maidstone districts, are urging people to give "the thumbs down" to the three leading parties and vote for a change.

Although the Green Party has failed to secure a seat at County Hall at past elections, recent figures show Green support is rapidly growing and one poll showed them four points ahead of the Lib Dems in the South East.

Former Labour member turned Independent, current Kent County

COUNTDOWN: The polling booths open on Thursday for the county council elections

Councillor for Maidstone South East, Brian Wood, is retiring at the June 4 elections.

Instead of backing his former party or a fellow Independent candidate to take his seat at KCC, Cllr Wood has publicly endorsed the Green Party.

In an attempt to regain the support the main parties have been making their final pleas to the residents as to why they should vote for them.

The Tories maintain their ruling of KCC has been productive and proved to be a success, which they wish to continue following the election.

The Lib Dems are hoping Labour and Conservative voters disappointed with their own parties will lend them their vote, rather than not vote at all, to allow them to reduce the Tory majority sitting at County Hall.

The Labour party is appealing to voters to choose their candidates for county council so the public can benefit from the Labour-run government.

Votes will be counted on Friday.

Clegg salutes town's role in Gurkha victory

■ BY ANNA WHITE

LIBERAL Democrat leader Nick Clegg came to the county town to congratulate campaigners for winning the battle for retiring Gurkhas to be allowed to stay in this country.

The prominent MP took a break from Parliament to meet Gurkha veterans from Invicta Barracks in Maidstone and Shorncliffe Barracks in Folkestone at Coxheath Village Hall on Monday.

Mr Clegg was greeted at Staplehurst station by the Lib Dem parliamentary candidate for Maidstone and Weald, Peter Carroll, before heading to meet the soldiers, their families and Lib Dem councillors.

Mr Carroll fought vigorously alongside actress Joanna Lumley to successfully persuade the Government to allow all retired Gurkhas to live in the UK. He celebrated with Ms Lumley and more than 100 former soldiers following Home Secretary Jacqui Smith's historic announcement on Thursday, May 21.

Mr Clegg told Yourmaidstone: "It's a triumph of decency, common sense and British values, and it is a triumph for Kent. It has captured the hearts of the people of Maidstone and Kent."

He added: "It's worth remembering that during a time of such great anxiety and so much anger, a legitimate anger and fury about the goings on at Westminster, and one MP after another has been exposed in this truly depressing and awful scandal, that in the middle of all that the Gurkha campaign finally delivered something that we as a nation could be proud of." Although Mr Clegg has not seen the bronze Gurkha statue outside Maidstone Museum in St Faith's Street, which was unveiled last year and paid for by the public, he praised the people of Maidstone for the idea.

He said: "It's fantastic and Maidstone should be immensely proud, especially because of the role of the Gurkhas have in the community in this part of England. The Gurkha campaign was born and bred in Kent and Kent should be proud of what it has achieved."

Speaking at the village hall, Mr Carroll said: "Today has been a lovely day and it is a lovely victory. Every time I see one of these Gurkhas it just chokes me and now their lives have been changed profoundly."

Madan Gurung, a former Gurkha soldier who fought with the British Army for 23 years before retiring in 1994, helped Mr Carroll spearhead the campaign.

He said: "I am very, very happy. I have lost 13 colleagues while fighting for this and I am pleased it is now over. This is a big day for me and I pleased Mr Carroll and Mr Clegg are both here."

During the ceremony Mr Clegg and Mr Carroll were both made honorary Gurkhas by Mr Gurung and his colleagues.

Evil rapist caught by DNA on victim

A SEX attacker has been jailed for seven years after being snared by DNA left when he licked a victim's face.

Ashley Niblett, 20, pleaded guilty last month to raping a 35-year-old woman in Maidstone last year, and to attempting to rape a 41-year-old woman.

Niblett, formerly from Sevenoaks, approached the 41-year-old from behind as she walked in Bower Place on April 23, 2008, before taking her mobile and trying to sexually assault her.

The attacker raped his second victim on July 11 last year, in an alleyway next to the library, in St Faith's Street, during the early hours of the morning.

He was caught after a trace of his DNA was found on the 35-year-old woman's face where he had licked her during the attack.

He pleaded not guilty to raping the victim a second time, which was accepted by the Crown during the hearing at Maidstone Crown Court on May 12.

After Niblett was sentenced at the same court on Friday, Detective Inspector Ian Rogerson, of Kent Police, said: "This sentence reflects the severity of these crimes, which will undoubtedly have a huge impact on the victims and is something they will have to live with for the rest of their lives."

"Although crimes of this nature are very rare, when they do occur we will use all the tools in our arsenal to seek the offenders and bring them to justice."

"By the very words of the judge, this man was a danger to women and today's sentence will ensure that he remains off the streets for a long time."

without so much as a ticking off. Mr Preece started filming his antics on his mobile phone, but then bought a pen with a telescopic camera on the end. The footage can be seen on video sharing site YouTube or on our website.

A visit to Ashford International Station, Ashford Police Station and the nearby magistrates court followed last week. Although security guards would not let him into the courts, he managed to walk into the police station and finish his cigarette.

Last Friday, he stood in the food court at the Ashford Designer Outlet and when he refused to put out his fag security guards just let him wander off. His next stop is Canterbury, where he has heard street patrols are tougher.

Smoking ban offenders can be handed £50 on-the-spot penalties, although this can rise to £1,000 if the matter goes to court. It is the job of councils to enforce the law and not the police.

Paul Alcock, manager of the Mall Chequers, said: "If this man returns we will call environmental health who can fine him on the spot."

Mark's confident he'll 'smash' world record

POTTERS from across the country are hoping their hard training will pay-off when they meet in Maidstone this month to try and smash a world record.

The Friars Aylesford Priory will host the Guinness World Record attempt during its annual Potters Market and will be entering its own contestant - Mark 'Billy' Byles.

Mr Byles, from Ashford, is the co-founder of Aylesford Pottery, set within The Friars' religious ground, and has his sights set on becoming the world record holder.

He is hoping his months of training and years of experience will help him take the crown from current world record holder Mary Chapellow and beat the other pottery contestants.

Defence

To beat Mrs Chapellow's record Mr Byles will need to make more than 83 pots within an hour, but Mrs Chapellow will be at the event defending her title.

Mr Byles, 37, said: "To be beat the record I need to make a pot to Guinness's size and quality specifications at least every 43 seconds for an hour - I've just tested myself and I beat that without even breaking conversations - or a sweat."

IN TRAINING: Mark shapes up for challenge

When asked if he is feeling confident about winning the title he said he intends to "smash it".

The Aylesford Potters Market will run from Friday to Sunday, June 26-28 and is expected to attract a large crowd.

The Guinness World Record attempt will be held on the Sunday with heats taking place on the Friday and Saturday.

The market will be open between 10am-5pm. Entry is £4 for adults, accompanied children enter free and £3 for concessions.

The cash was given to the Ditton Minors under 15s football club as part of the group's Community Fund scheme.

Coach Andrew Blackwell said: "We are just coming to the end of our first and very successful season, so this grant could not have come at a better time. We have been able to buy training jackets for all the boys."

Volunteers thanked for hard work at museum

MAIDSTONE Museum put its helpers in the spotlight yesterday to honour their generosity and dedication.

Last year 108 people volunteered at the county town's three museums, working a total of 4,495 unpaid hours. Museum bosses thanked them all to mark National Volunteer's Week, which runs until Sunday.

Town welcomes its new mayor with a parade

THE new Mayor of Maidstone was officially welcomed to the county town during the annual Civic Parade.

The parade began in Week Street on Sunday May 24, before heading to the High Street, led by the 38 Engineer Regiment, a military band and civilian contingents.

The mayor, Cllr Peter Parvin, was joined by the Commanding Officer of the regiment and the Gurkha Major outside the Town Hall, where he took the salute.

You can have your cake and ice it, too

■ BY ANNA WHITE

OFFICE workers and housewives have found a new way to express their creativity – by decorating cakes.

Annabelle Gheur recently opened a Confection Perfection shop in Maidstone, at which she teaches the art of cake decoration.

The first classes have been fully booked and from September she will be offering a diploma course – the only one of its kind in Kent.

The mother-of-three opened her first Confection Perfection shop in Hildenborough about eight years ago and opened a cake decorating school within the shop.

Interest quickly grew and Ms Gheur, 37, found her classes in making roses, chocolate decorating and making special cakes, were soon fully booked.

Ms Gheur said: "I have found when people come to my courses they are so pleased when they are able to take home something they have created. It gives them a real sense of achievement."

Since opening on April 20 the new venture in Beverley Road, Barming, has gone down a treat. The qualified instructor said: "We get a real mix, from young girls, mums, and grans, to men."

"We have lots of young mums in learning how to perfect their children's birthday cakes

GETTING CREATIVE: Annabelle Gheur says her students get a kick out of taking home something they have made and also a few older mums whose children have left home and need a new hobby.

"Then we have the older generation who come along to perfect their skills."

Ms Gheur lives near her shop in Barming with partner Daryll, their three-year-old daughter Angelyna, and her two sons Ben, 15 and James, 12.

Her love of cake decorating stems from her childhood in Ireland, when she would test new cake recipes in the kitchen with her sister and grandmother. She said: "I told my granny when I was seven that one day I would own my own cake shop, be a millionaire and go on holiday to Barbados."

"Well, I'm still waiting for that holiday and for the millions to roll in."

Getting ready to Race for Life

WITH the second Maidstone Race for Life event of the year fast-approaching, the KOS Media team enlisted the help of a personal trainer to get in shape to run the 5k route.

The full team: Erica Jones, Jo Nicoll, Lucy Williams, Anna White, Clare Bairam and Sally Ingram, will take part in the race in Mote Park on Sunday.

But to ensure they were up for the challenge David Lloyds Fitness Club in Maidstone set up a session with personal trainer Daniel Young.

Yourmaidstone reporter Anna White and the managing director's PA, Jo Nicoll, were put through their paces at the gym in the Lockmeadow complex, so they could pass on Mr Young's tips to the rest of the team.

The ladies are hoping the sun will be shining for them and the other 4,000 ladies taking part in this weekend's Race for Life – unlike the torrential rain for the first Maidstone Race for Life on Sunday, May 17.

Other Race for Life events will be taking place across the county, including Tunbridge Wells, Herne Bay, Canterbury, Folkestone and Margate.

The KOS Media team is hoping to raise hundreds of pounds for Cancer Research and our readers can help them achieve this by sponsoring them at www.raceforlife.org/kos.

BRUSH WITH FAME: Artist Graham Clarke congratulates StARTle 2009 competition winner Rebecca Crosbie

Crosbie's stills - flash and young

A TALENTED photographer was named winner of an arts competition during the first anniversary celebrations at the Hazlitt Arts Centre.

StARTle 2009 was launched by Maidstone council, supported by Yourmaidstone, to mark the milestone at the venue which includes a theatre, music studio and art gallery.

Rebecca Crosbie, a photography student at the University of the Creative Arts in Maidstone, was announced as the winner during the Hazlitt's anniversary party on Saturday.

The photographer, who focuses on derelict buildings, wartime tunnels and closed asylums, has won a free four-week exhibition in the Graham Clarke Gallery, within the arts centre in Earl Street, which opens today (Wednesday).

She said: "I thought I'd give the competition a go, but I'm really pleased I won."

"It's going to be great to have my own exhibition and I will be getting my friends and family to come along and see it."

Miss Crosbie, 22, was picked from 34 entries by a panel of judges made up of

■ BY ANNA WHITE

Maidstone artist Graham Clarke, Yourmaidstone acting editor Jon Coates, Maidstone council marketing manager Vronni Ward and Laurence Wood, the head of the University of the Creative Arts in Canterbury.

The announcement followed a day of family activities and workshops, a performance from Mr Clarke's Boughton Monchelsea Youth Band and the unveiling of a memorial plaque for the late Tony Hart (see below).

The birthday events were rounded off with an entertaining performance by Kent-born stand-up comedian Mark Steel in the Hazlitt Theatre auditorium.

Cllr Brian Moss, Maidstone council's cabinet member for leisure and culture, said: "The anniversary attracted a huge audience throughout the day. The activities were well supported and drew many compliments."

The other shortlisted artists in StARTle 2009 were Benjamin Humphrey, Kay Gretton, Jacqueline Marie Stevens and Barry Charlton.

Their entries will also be displayed during the exhibition of Miss Crosbie's photographs at the gallery.

Tribute to late TV favourite

A PLAQUE featuring a dragon and bumblebee drawn by much-loved artist Tony Hart was unveiled by Maidstone Mayor Peter Parvin during the Hazlitt celebrations on Saturday.

Guest of honour was Carolyn Williams, the daughter of the late Maidstone-born children's TV favourite.

After the plaque was unveiled Ms Williams said: "I don't usually quote Victor Meldrew when speaking about my dad, but if he was here he would have said: 'I don't believe it'."

"What a lovely thing to do. He can't be here - and I wish he was - but I thank you on his behalf."

The tribute came after thousands of fans joined an online campaign for a permanent memorial to the Vision On and Take Hart artist, which was backed by Yourmaidstone.

We exclusively reported how after the death of the presenter on January 18, more than 6,000 people joined the Tony Hart memorial group on social networking website Facebook.

Ms Williams said: "I wouldn't say I was surprised when I heard about the online group because people have been saying for years that Maidstone should have something for dad. But it is lovely that it is finally here in his memory."

She also pointed out the plaque features a bumblebee called Iggy, which she said was one of Mr Hart's signature trademarks.

Mr Hart, who died at his Surrey home aged 83, was born in Hastings Road in 1925 and attended St Margaret's Pre-Prep School.

He served as an officer with the 1st Gurkha Rifles in World War Two before studying at Maidstone College of Art, now the University for Creative Arts, before graduating in 1950 and starting his 50-year television career.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Freight meeting packed

HUNDREDS of residents packed a public meeting about a proposed freight depot near Borough Green.

Borough Green international gateway (BIG) has been put forward as an alternative freight terminal to Kent international gateway (KIG), near Bearsted.

If it goes ahead, BIG could cover more than 250 acres of landscape around Platt, Borough Green, Wrotham and Ightham. The public meeting in St George's Hall, Wrotham, was attended by more than 200 people.

With traffic already blighting Borough Green, Kent County Council is working on a planning application for a village bypass.

Locals are concerned the BIG developers will offer to fund the bypass.

Richard Knox-Johnston, chairman of Protect Kent, said: "We are against inappropriate development in the Green Belt and this depot will have a severe impact."

Remembrance reminder

FAMILIES are being invited to attend this year's service of remembrance at Vinters Park crematorium, Maidstone, on Sunday, June 14, from 3pm.

Music will be provided by the Salvation Army and this year the service will be led by the Rev Stuart Piper, lead chaplain at Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust.

There will be some seating, but guests are welcome to take their own chairs.

For more information, contact the crematorium office on 01622 738172 or email bereavementservices@maidstone.gov.uk.

Keyhole surgery link-up

SURGEONS will be able to take a masters degree in keyhole surgery after a link-up between the University of Kent and the NHS.

Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust will work with the university's Medway-based Centre for Work and Learning to deliver the programme, from October.

The focus will be laparoscopic, or keyhole, surgery, which uses fibre optic camera technology to operate through small incisions.

Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust unveiled a new laparoscopic theatre at Maidstone Hospital last month.

Dora's colt joins farmyard family

KENT'S latest family attraction has welcomed a new addition to its farmyard – a foal.

Dora, a Romanian donkey, was adopted by Kent Life shortly before it reopened in April.

On arrival, staff suspected the mare was pregnant and it was confirmed she was due at the beginning of April.

But Dora kept everyone in suspense and gave birth to a healthy male foal nearly two months later – at 7.30pm last Wednesday.

The newcomer to the Kent Life family is settling in to his new home and both mother and foal are doing well.

Kent Life director John Jordan said: "We're absolutely delighted the birth was successful and we now have a beautiful colt."

Dora was named after children's character Dora the Explorer, after she travelled across Europe to Kent Life, in Sandling, where she moved in with fellow donkey Ellie and other animals just in time for the grand opening.

Kent Life, which had been known as the Museum of Kent Life for 20 years, underwent a £500,000 transformation in time for the new season.

The move has proved a success, with the attraction smashing its visitor targets during the four-day Easter bank holiday weekend in April.

QUESTION & ANSWER

PETER CARROLL

Q Tell us a little about yourself

A I'm 48 years old and married to Lynne. I own a road transport company based in Maidstone. However, I've had a very varied career. I started as a research scientist and then served as an officer in the RAF for six years. I ran a software company until moving into the family road transport business in 1992. I am a Liberal Democrat.

Q How did you get involved in the Gurkha Justice Campaign?

A In 2004, four retired Gurkhas arrived at my home to say that one of their colleagues was being deported. This was a jaw-dropping moment for me. I had no idea that at the time all retired Gurkhas had to go back to Nepal. From that moment, I vowed to help them. I helped force them into a campaigning force.

Later that year, the Blair Government announced a major change in policy and said that Gurkhas who retired after 1997 could stay in Britain. While a very good move, this led to the terrible situation that Gurkhas who retired before 1997 could not stay – this included veterans of the first Gulf War, the Falklands and other conflicts.

Q What does this new announcement by the Government mean for all retired Gurkhas?

A This new policy will change lives profoundly and in a wonderful way. It means that thousands of very brave and loyal British Army Gurkhas who have been excluded from living in Britain can now do so. For them and their families it gives access to a better life.

Q How crucial a role has Joanna Lumley played in the campaign?

A Her fame and her wonderful way of reaching out to people and her ability to communicate via the media meant the campaign gained a massive amount of momentum. With Joanna at the head, we were able to apply a degree of political pressure which had eluded us before her involvement.

Q Do you believe all foreign soldiers who fought on behalf of the UK should have the right to settle here?

A Yes I do. Indeed, soldiers from Commonwealth countries have had the right to settlement in the UK after four years for a very significant period. The central plank of our campaign was simply to ask for parity with these soldiers. We were never asking for anything special – just parity with Commonwealth soldiers.

Q How significant a decision do you believe this is in the history of our Parliament and Armed Forces?

A This decision is profoundly significant. A public campaign has forced an unwilling Government to do the 'right thing'. The vote in Parliament was crucial. In that vote, MPs of all sides worked together to defeat the Government on an Opposition Day motion. I believe the last time that happened was in the mid 1970s. The Gurkha issue has helped bring to the fore the very important concept of the Military Covenant for all our soldiers. That covenant sets out that in return for the risks they take, members of the Armed Forces should expect to be well treated and respected.

Q Is there a next step for the campaign, or have you reached the pinnacle?

A No, this campaign is over. Usually, campaigns either only succeed in increasing awareness of an issue or in getting a compromise. In this case, the campaign has been won.

Q What do you believe the future holds for this Labour Government?

A I feel that it is in severe trouble. It is as if the public mood has shifted against it and it is struggling to become positive again. I think its difficulties can best be demonstrated by how it has reacted to our campaign. Blair's was the first Government to do something positive for the Gurkhas when it allowed post-1997 retirees to stay in this country. Gordon Brown has now built on this with his decision to let all retired Gurkhas stay. However, despite all that good work, many feel the Government has been dragged kicking and screaming to this point. Hence, the public has a negative view of its actions when, in fact, it has done more than any other.

Q & A

James Alexandre talks to Peter Carroll, founder of the Gurkha Justice Campaign, which succeeded in winning residency rights for all Gurkha veterans, about the early days and where we go from here

MIGRATION: Painted Ladies are arriving to our shores in massive numbers

Reader's letter flew in

READER John Kemp from Whitstable contacted us after taking pictures of the visitors.

He said: "There has been a massive influx of Painted Lady butterflies into Britain in the past week. I saw 13 at one time in my garden in Whitstable, and I have also seen them in Chestfield.

"They have been reported from Grove Ferry, Sandwich Bay, West to Devon: sometimes in large numbers - over 1,000 at Rainham marches just over the estuary into Essex. This attractive butterfly is fairly common, but very variable in numbers, being an irruptive migrant from North Africa and Southern Europe - it can not survive our winters.

"It is, however, an extremely adventurous migrant and strong flier, being the only butterfly ever found in Iceland. I attach a photo, taken yesterday in my garden, where they were sipping nectar from our perennial wallflowers."

■ BY NICK AMES

A MASSIVE number of distinctive Painted Lady butterflies are now arriving in the county, after an amazing 1,000-mile migration from North Africa.

In a space of about 45 minutes, conservationists counted nearly 3,000 of the butterflies at one location in Kent, which they called "quite incredible".

The charity Butterfly Conservation has been receiving reports since the start of last week of sightings of large numbers of these fast-flying butterflies, which have orange, black and white-spotted wings, moving overhead for hours on end. They say this could be one of the largest Painted Lady migrations in decades.

The first indication of their arrival in Britain came when Butterfly Conservation members first reported seeing large numbers along the south coast.

Since then, thousands have been seen flying in a northerly direction.

Scientists have been predicting an unusually large migration since late winter.

The butterflies originate from the Atlas Mountains of Morocco, where heavy winter rains allowed good germination of the caterpillar food-plants.

A Spanish researcher, Constanti Stefanescu, had reported seeing hundreds of thousands emerging in mid February and beginning their long flight north.

They were seen in large numbers in Spain during April and a few weeks later in France.

Now they have arrived in the southern part of the UK with sightings as far north as East Anglia being reported.

Butterfly Conservation is asking for the public's help to track the migration by recording any sightings at www.butterfly-conservation.org/migrantwatch.

Richard Fox, surveys manager, said: "There are literally millions of Painted Lady butterflies arriving right across Britain.

"This is a spectacular phenomenon and we are asking people to send us their sightings via our website".

A RARE SIGHT: Comma butterflies are in decline

Making a home for butterflies

Pat Crawford gives wildlife gardening advice from Hadlow College in her exclusive column for Yourmaidstone

WITH summer approaching native butterflies should be seen in our gardens in droves - but they are not. The reason is that a lot of butterfly species are in decline - and some are threatened with extinction.

According to reports from the Butterfly Monitoring Scheme, last year was the worst since records began in 1976.

Two things would help to redress this worrying situation. Firstly, a warm, sunny summer because the majority of butterflies don't tolerate rain or cold. Secondly, gardeners making positive efforts to improve habitats.

Butterflies lay their eggs where emerging caterpillars have immediate access to food. In some cases they only lay eggs on the common nettle. It is easy to reserve a small area of the garden where nettles can grow undisturbed.

And why not plant more of the native nectar-rich flowers loved by butterflies? Any garden centre or nursery worth the title will be able to offer plenty of help on this score.

Two further important points. Select warm, sunny, sheltered places to locate nectar-rich plants because butterflies will be reluctant to visit chilly, draughty spots in the garden.

And consider reducing - or at least cutting down - on the use of pesticides because they kill gardeners' friends such as ladybirds and butterflies just as much as what are perceived as 'nasty' visitors.

• From June 8-14 the summer exhibition at Hadlow College is open to the public free of charge. Call 01732 853211 for information and to order tickets.

Happy diners give glowing approval to local champion

Neill Barston visits The Mulberry Tree, which has just tucked another award under its belt

TUCKED away in the leafy surroundings of Boughton Monchelsea, The Mulberry Tree has been named as the Good Food Guide readers' favourite restaurant in the South East.

The accolade is all the more impressive given the fact the Hermitage Lane venue, which was completely revamped from a down-at heel pub two years ago, has yet to appear in the prestigious national culinary guide.

Needless to say, the team at the restaurant were over the moon at the award, which comes in the wake of its recognition with a Produced In Kent Taste of Kent Award.

Karen Williams, The Mulberry Tree's front of house manager said: "This has made all the hard work pay off, it's fantastic for us. We had originally tried just having snack food available here at the venue, but that just didn't work. So we looked at what people really wanted and it's great that we have an award that has been gained by customers writing in."

She added that head chef Alan Irwin has been instrumental in the restaurant's success. The post is his first senior role, having previously worked as part of the team at Michelin starred venue Chapter One in Bromley.

The restaurant's contemporary styling and menu has been a big hit with customers, who have valued its philosophy of ensuring its food is sourced from Kent.

Its seasonal specials, ranging from fish caught off the county's coast, locally reared meat, and fresh vegetables from its own garden supplies have made it a sought-after evening venue. The restaurant also serves a continually evolving lunch menu that's suitable for both meat eaters and vegetarians.

There is a full selection of beers available from its bar, which also stocks a varied range of Kentish wines which can be enjoyed in its terrace garden.

More than 23,000 people voted in The Good Food Guide's annual readers' Restaurant of the Year award, which recognises excellence and good service at independently owned restaurants, pubs and cafés across the UK.

The public were invited to nominate their favourite independently-owned and run restaurant, pub or café in their region, preferably one that offers regional dishes and/or seeks out local producers. They could nominate online or submit a postcard that was available from restaurants.

The Mulberry Tree now joins nine other regional winners to compete for the overall Restaurant of the Year title, which will be awarded on June 9, at a ceremony to be held at the British Museum.

Elizabeth Carter, editor of The Good Food Guide believed there had been some strong competition for this year's awards.

She said: "All of the restaurants that made it on to this year's shortlist should be really proud of the show of support they've received from their customers."

"The Mulberry Tree isn't the easiest place to find, but persevere. Alan Irwin's cooking is heroically seasonal, based on first-class local produce."

Take a bite of the cherry during weekend festival

A CELEBRATION of Kent's longstanding production of cherries is being held at Brogdale Farm in Faversham.

The Cherry Festival event, which takes place on the weekend of July 11-12, will offer more than 50 varieties for visitors to try at their leisure as they take in the national fruit collection, which features a total of more than 3,500 fruit varieties including apples, pears, plums, nuts and cherry varieties on site.

Sally Roger, of Brogdale Collection said: "Cherries are so tasty and buying locally when they are in season does make a huge difference to the taste. A visit to Brogdale is a unique experience."

The farm offers a great day out for the family in offering a wide range of fresh local produce at its market-place.

Celebration is brewing to help mark first Forces day

ONE of Kent's most innovative ale producers, The Nelson Brewery, is creating a special beer to mark the first Armed Forces Day taking place in Medway.

The Chatham Historic Dockyard-based company is hard at work putting the finishing touches to its brew, which will be released in time to coincide with the massive military event on Saturday, June 27.

Piers MacDonald, of the Nelson Brewery, commented: "This is going to be a really important event for us and the whole of Medway and we're glad to be a part of it."

For more information about the day and how to get tickets visit www.armedforcesday.org.uk/

Tots catch insect bug

WINGING IT: Georgina Wallace as a butterfly, above; Amber Brown and Joshua Forknall, right, in their insect masks

■ BY ANNA WHITE

YOUNGSTERS got the chance to live as their favourite creepy-crawly for a day when their school held an Ugly Bug Ball.

The reception classes at Sutton Valence Preparatory School, in Chart Sutton, were asked to come to school dressed as a bug of their choice.

The Ugly Bug Ball rounded off the term's work on mini-beasts, during which the four and five years olds learnt about the huge importance spiders and flies, slugs and snails and other creepy-crawlies have on our environment.

The human beasts spent the morning in the bug workshop where they made bug masks and badges, mini-beast flower pots and sparkly spider webs.

During the afternoon the youngsters spent their time in the school's Bates Hall for The Ugly Bug Ball, trying to dance like the tiny creatures to learn exactly how they favourite creepy crawlies move.

To finish off their fun-packed day the children tucked in to a range of bug-themed foods in a giant feast.

SURFING THE WEB: Sam Smith, Joe Savage and Chloe Alexander create some sparkly spider webs Foundation stage co-ordinator Carla Johnson said: "The whole day was designed to consolidate the children's learning about mini-beasts, but with a fun element.

"They were asked to come into school as a bug of their choice and their imaginations ran riot.

"The parents were particularly inventive and we had some terrific creatures."

Who'll be the next entrants into Big Brother's little hall of infamy?

WITH the start of yet another series of Big Brother tomorrow, who can forget the great characters we have been introduced to via the original TV 'reality' show?

Victor – alias the milkman, because he always delivers – Nasty Nick – so called because he was nasty – wannabe Chanelle – who idolises Victoria Beckham – and all the rest.

You remember them, the stupid posh blonde one who used an offensive racial term, the nurse from Nigeria who said she faced death if she returned to Africa because her TV character was so unappealing.

What were they called again?

Oh yes, Emily and Makosi.

There you see – legends all.

Just as is Science the rapper, who once memorably stated "I live in da ghetto – wiv me mum!"

It's actually 50 years since the novel 1984 by George Orwell was published and the term 'Big Brother' with its overtones of 24-7 surveillance was created.

And what better way to remember that critique of authoritarianism and warning against an all-powerful state out to stamp a boot on the human face forever than watching a load of idiots cavorting in a make believe house?

I mean, what have the victims of the Thought Police and those tortured in the Ministry of Love got compared to the housemates of Big Brother Seven?

Shahbaz threatened to commit suicide! Lea suffered from issues over her body! Nikki had anorexia! Glyn was Welsh! So was Imogen!

It surely doesn't get any worse than that!

Except – the truly awesome fight night of Big Brother Five. Compared to that, the retreat from Moscow was a stroll in the snow.

Victor was at the centre of it all and you can't keep a good milkman down as the saying goes.

The kid from the ghetto had just about had it with gobby Emma and the fact that he was dressed as a clown didn't hold him back.

Live TV coverage was cut as the so-called battling pair were pulled apart by security guards.

Self proclaimed gangsta Victor – aka Mr Slick because of his way wiv da ladeez – flipped a table over before hurling a platter at her head.

Threats to kill then came from the lips of the man also called Mr Marmite as people either love him or hate him – to the shock of Channel 4 who tried to involve the police.

It didn't end there as Big Vic and fellow 'Jungle Cat' Jason continued the row.

And there was even more aggro two series later as Grace hurled a glass of water quite near to Susie as she left the house.

The violence even spilled over into the real world.

"Centre of attention" Grace was attacked as she left the G.A.Y. club in London's Astoria and the "party girl" hurt her foot.

How real is that?

Yes it doesn't get any bigger than Big Brother – and it lasts all summer (although it seems like for the next decade).

WIN a stylish picnic hamper

WHETHER you're off to picnic at Wimbledon, the races or just down to the park, it can be a chore lugging a heavy basket filled with bottles and jars.

It's more disheartening to open your hamper and find your carefully dressed salad has turned soggy. But The English Provender Company has the solution – Singles!

Singles are neat sachets of deliciously low-fat dressing perfect for pouring on to your salad just before you eat. Choose from three great flavours – Honey & Mustard, Classic French and Lime & Coriander. These innovative little sachets come in neat boxes of six and are made using only the finest ingredients.

For the health conscious, each individually portioned sachet contains between one and three per cent fat and approx 21-44 kcals depending on the flavour.

Singles also allow all the family the freedom to choose their favourite flavour without cluttering up the fridge – the sachets can be safely stored at room temperature. And if you all find you like the same flavour, you can buy a large 250ml bottle to share at home.

So now there's no excuse but to round up the family and go for a lovely al fresco lunch.

To help you on your way we've teamed up with The English Provender Company to offer four readers the chance of winning a beautiful Optima four-person picnic hamper, complete with a pack of each flavour of Singles.

To enter, simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your e-mail address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to English Provender Competition, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR. The closing date is June 24, 2009.

Question: Depending on the flavour how many kcals are there in each individually portioned sachet?

Look for Singles in major supermarkets and online at www.englishprovender.com. Also be sure to try English Provender's new Indulgent salad dressings to add a bit of luxury to the dinner table! Available in Tesco Extra and Booths.

TALK TIME

TARA HORTON

The 20-year-old student nurse talks about her work placement in Accident and Emergency, and why she wants to be placed there when she graduates next year

Tell us a little about yourself.

I'm in my last year of a three year nursing course. I am currently studying at Canterbury Christchurch University and will graduate in February 2010.

I live in Bearsted and commute to Canterbury, but have various placements at Maidstone Hospital including medical, orthopaedics, surgical and in the community. When qualified I will be a registered staff nurse.

Why did you want to become a nurse?

I have always thought I would like to work within the health care system, but it wasn't until my first year in sixth form when studying for my A Levels that I decided to volunteer to do a work placement on a ward.

This experience in a hospital allowed me to care for patients and understand the nurse's role within this environment. I thoroughly enjoyed it and from then on I decided I would apply to become a nurse.

Also my mum, Diane Poole, is an ambulance technician and would come home and tell me stories she had to deal with.

Which area of nursing would you like to work in when you graduate?

I have currently finished a five week acute placement based in Accident and Emergency. This is where I would love to work permanently when I qualify as every day is different and it is very fast-paced.

I love being challenged and dealing with extreme situations. It is an excellent place to learn quick clinical skills.

YOUR LETTERS

Get rid of Widdy and the whole lot

After reading your front page story in the May 20 edition of Yourmaidstone, maybe it's a good thing local MP Ann Widdecombe will be retiring at the next election.

Along with so many other MPs, she appears to have lost the plot. The expenses scandal was just "the straw that broke the camel's back".

Voters have had enough of being treated as useful only as election fodder and then being ignored, lied to and taken as fools.

After ignoring millions of voters and taking us to war on a tissue of lies, to kill hundreds of thousands of innocent people, waste billions of pounds and lay waste to Iraq, you'd have thought they would have learnt their lesson.

But no, they still have the same arrogance, the same mindset and the same contempt for democracy.

We need a General Election to get rid of the self-servers, the time-servers and the egoists, so

Who is Kent 'NOT' Travel company?

On Bank Holiday Monday, May 25, I had intended to take an elderly friend from Detling to Maidstone on the bus service 335 provided by Kent Top Travel.

The gentleman in question suffers from cancer with mobility issues, so found the 400 metre walk uphill to the bus stop a challenge. We had arranged to go for a meal and do some shopping.

We arrived at the bus stop at 12.40pm to catch the 12.48pm. At 1.25pm we gave up and I walked him home.

We went back to the bus stop for the 2.48pm as the shopping still needed to be done, so I waited from 2.35pm until 3.35pm for that bus not to turn up.

I again waited for the 4.48pm until 5.20pm, only for that not to turn up.

Who is responsible for this, Kent Top Travel or KCC, or are they the one and the same?

Robert Barraclough, from Maidstone, by email

Missing memorial was in safe keeping

When the Trinity Church was converted into the Trinity Foyer, I noticed that the memorial to Captain Nolan was missing.

When I asked what had happened to it I was told it had been removed and taken to the Cutbush (and Correll Charity Offices?) in Sittingbourne Road for safe keeping until a home was found for it.

Holiday story was bit of a Turkey

I was pleased to read a pleasant report of Sunsail Club Javelin in last week's Yourmaidstone, it brought back fond memories of my friend 'Spliff'.

Last summer I worked as a sailing instructor at Club Javelin for four months and had an excellent time.

However, Sunsail has now closed its Turkish Clubs (including Javelin), due to an incident concerning work visas at the end of October 2008.

Joseph Macgregor, from East Farleigh, by email

Editor's reply: Dear Mr Macgregor, thanks for letting us know about this development. We have had calls about this from readers of other mid-week papers across Kent.

Our holiday features are supplied to us by the Press Association and so ran the article in good faith.

I have sent your comment to PA and hopefully this error on their behalf will not happen again, but we would like to apologise for any inconvenience to our readers.

Stop people paying with their jobs

Our Government is hell-bent on cutting jobs in every part of Kent.

All of Kent's councils appear to be contemplating redundancies: nationwide 7,000 local government jobs have gone already with 14,000 more expected over the next 12 months.

Over 100 of our UK universities are planning to cut staff too.

And if this was not bad enough, Government capping of university places will close the doors to about 30,000 eligible students this summer. Hasn't the Government heard of this country's massive skills shortages?

Work that could be done to insulate homes, cut energy wastage and fuel poverty and put solar water heating and solar panels in our schools and hospitals is not being done, condemning construction workers to enforced unemployment.

Yes, a recession is difficult, but there are plenty of areas of public spending occurring in Kent and Medway that we do not need.

Subsidies to chemical-based agriculture should be brought to an end; new major road building should be stopped; subsidised public private partnerships to build new schools should be cut in favour of cheaper direct public spending on such projects; public spending on planning for large-scale lorry parking and warehousing developments like the China Gateway, the Kent International Gateway project and a similar project at Borough Green could all cease with a clear Government rejection of these unsustainable projects.

We're not a poor country. But we are poorly-led, and people are paying with their jobs for the Government's combined failures to lead or to prioritise for the future.

Dr Hazel Dawe, chair of Kent Green Party, by email

You can help plant a happier community

National Volunteers Week started on Monday, which is a week of celebration and recognition for the hundreds of thousands of volunteers that help to make Britain a better place to live.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank this underground army and in particular, a dedicated band of horticultural heroes – the RHS Britain in Bloom and Neighbourhood Award volunteers.

Their muddy hands and green fingers turn concrete jungles into lush green places, while their endless enthusiasm and determination creates local environments in which people can flourish.

Gardening really is a tool that brings communities together.

The stories I have heard from the Britain in Bloom volunteers all ring true with the same messages – that, through gardening, friendships have been made, neighbours have reconnected with each other and anti-social behaviour has been reduced.

If you feel as I do that gardening plays a vital role in benefiting society and the world in which we live, and you would like to volunteer please visit www.rhs.org.uk/britaininbloom.

Comedy duo promise a night to remember

BY SUSAN GRIFFIN

PUT two comedy giants together in one room and even a pack of jaded journalists will soon be buzzing with anticipation at their imminent arrival.

Dictaphones are arranged, prime seats are fought over and hushed whispers reach fever pitch as Ricky Gervais and Ben Stiller make their entrance.

Gervais, 47, and Stiller, 43, have amassed an impressive body of work between them.

As the co-creator of The Office, Gervais won unlikely empathy for the sadly-comedic character David Brent, and the plaudits the series received brought him huge success on both sides of the Atlantic.

His subsequent star pulling-power allowed him to secure unlikely cameos from the likes of Robert de Niro and Kate Winslet, who both willingly sent themselves up in his follow-up project, Extras.

Stiller meanwhile has been described as a "ringmaster who knows everybody in Hollywood" by his friend and co-star Hank Azaria, having been behind box office hits such as Meet The Parents, Dodgeball and Tropic Thunder.

The reason for the duo's joint appearance is to promote their latest cinematic pairing in comedy sequel Night At The Museum 2.

Back in the press room, a call for silence breaks into applause as the duo arrive.

Gervais, wearing black trousers, T-shirt and jacket, leads the way. He is closely followed by Stiller, who at around 5ft 6in, also wearing black and sporting impressively bouffant hair, makes Gervais look positively statuesque.

The premise of the Night At The Museum

movies revolves around the idea of museum exhibits coming to life once visitors have left.

Stiller reprises the role of Larry Daley, the former museum night guard at The Museum of Natural History who has now found success as an infomercial inventor.

The museum's assorted historical characters, played by the likes of Owen Wilson, Robin Williams and Steve Coogan, all reappear, along with a host of new faces, such as Amy Adams as Amelia Earhart and Azaria as an Egyptian pharaoh. Gervais, meanwhile, is back as Daley's boss, the oblivious Dr McPhee.

Stiller said: "We had to figure out a way to start the second movie, particularly as Larry was so happy at the end of the first one."

VIEW THIS PREVIEW

yourkenttv.co.uk

"The idea that Larry had become successful and had all the problems that come with that took him away from his true happiness."

Both cast and crew wanted everything in the sequel to not only be bigger but better, so the action was moved to the world's largest museum, Washington's Smithsonian Institution.

While it meant an infinite amount of creative possibilities for the production team, it does beg the question whether there's now anywhere else the film franchise can go.

"I don't know," says Stiller. "The idea of doing a third one would be great. It's just figuring out how it could get any bigger, any different."

"How about a normal museum where nothing comes to life, just following the admin," Gervais chips in. "Just naturalise it all..."

Important note for aspiring musicians

■ BY TOM BETTS

YOUR chance to take a positive step forward into the music industry is available courtesy of a Kent-based company on the lookout for fresh new talent.

The exciting project from Diverse Music could enable you to get involved in music in a way you hadn't before thought possible.

It offers you the chance to become part of an expanding network of talent that could be too good not to take up.

The firm are run by three industry experts, with insider Malissa Whitehouse – who has worked with a host of big names like Travis and George Michael – heading up the team's push for new Kent talent.

She said: "This project is our chance to give something back to the music scene in Kent and we are hoping to find some great acts to work with and help.

"We feel we can help with the development and provide a doorway into the music industry for people who may not have had that chance."

With the process open to anyone who feels they may be able to make an impact, bookings for the FREE auditions are being taken now.

Eventually the artists will form a database of talent, who could be put in touch with each other to share ideas or even perform together.

It could prove to be a hotbed of ideas and creativity with the facilities and technology to put down professional tracks at the Diverse studio in Biltong near Ashford already in place.

Working with Malissa are producer Lee Golledge, who specialises in rock, indie and alternative material and Tony Matthew, a former member of the Soul II Soul collective, key players in the British soul revival in the 80s who had massive hit records.

The two are highly accomplished musicians and will be on hand to offer their advice to those who join the process.

Songwriters and other performers will also be added to the database as it takes shape with the aim to keep it growing and expanding.

To apply for an audition spot email Malissa@popsessions.co.uk.

Include a brief description of who you are, what you do and a picture of yourself.

Prepare to be dazzled

Dancing snails, street pillow fights and a huge choice of art, dance, theatre and music are on offer at festival

FUSE FESTIVAL

Saturday June 6 to
Saturday June 20
Various Venues, Medway

FANS of the weird and wacky will be in their element as this year's Fuse Medway Festival gets under way.

During this 15-day celebration of art and creativity, a dazzling array of dance, theatre, music and other entertainment will be on offer to inspire and intrigue spectators. New shows will be joining the programme this year to make the festival even more exciting, diverse and colourful than before.

Shoppers in Chatham High Street will know the festival has opened this Saturday when they find themselves sharing the pavement with jugglers, balloon artists and two Oxbridge undergraduates in a boat. Artizani will be punting down the street while the amazing Insect Circus Museum astounds people with its tame wasps, charmed worms and dancing snails.

If a pillow fight in the street is not entertaining enough, a stunning carnival will leave the New Art Centre in the evening and parade to Chatham riverside where dancers and musicians will showcase Indian music and melodies, followed by a firework display.

On Saturday, June 13, it will be Rochester High Street's turn to feel the groove on a day that is all about movement. Indian dance troupe Akademi, Medway's Loop Dance Company, award-winning 4x4 Bhangra Group and the Floor Crusaders will be showing off amazing skills that will captivate their audience.

Witness the art of parkour when Ashley Spider demonstrates his free running technique, while Dizzy O'Dare presents some breathtaking tightwire and circus stunts. Aspiring dancers will have the chance to try out some steps in a number of workshops with the professionals.

Rochester Castle Gardens will be the setting for a macabre stilt dance

FUSE FESTIVAL ATTRACTIONS:

based on the Danza Antigua Festival of the living dead and Loved Up, an aerial dance display.

Shoppers will meet a variety of interesting characters in Gillingham High Street on Saturday, June 20, as fantastic street performers arrive in their midst. Frolicked Puppet Theatre, the pint-sized Flying Buttresses and the Cockney Awkestra will all be making the shopping experience more interesting that day.

The festival draws to a close at Rochester Castle Gardens that evening with the amazing From The Inky Deep. This tightwire and aerial circus show will astonish the audience, while fire sculptures by Denis Triot will light up the night sky.

Taking place at several new venues across the area, Fuse Medway Festival promises to be even more entertaining than last year. For full listings call 01634 338319 or go online at www.fusefestival.org.uk.

REACH OUT!

Saturday, June 6
Hazlitt Theatre, Maidstone

MAIDSTONE plays its part in Motown's 50th anniversary celebrations by hosting the celebratory concert Reach Out!

The Tops 'n' Temps will be paying tribute to the legendary record label's top male vocal groups, The Four Tops and The Temptations. Backed by The Motorcity Orchestra, they promise a musical celebration that will be the party of the year.

For more than 12 years, Reach Out! has recreated the sights and sounds of these two classic acts for contemporary audiences.

Founded in Detroit in 1959, Motown became the first label to achieve pop chart success with primarily black artists. With their stylish suits, smooth choreography and tight vocal harmonies, The Temptations scored hit after hit with songs like My Girl, Ain't Too Proud To Beg and Papa Was A Rollin' Stone. During their 40-year career, The Four Tops became Motown's most successful male vocal act with tracks such as Reach Out I'll Be There.

The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost £16/£15. To book tickets, call the box office on 01622 758611 or visit the website at www.hazlittartscentre.co.uk

SHE'S small, she's cute and she's one of the Dutch city of Utrecht's most famous exports.

Miffy, or Nijntje, as the little white rabbit is known in her native Holland, is a popular book and TV character across the globe.

Utrecht, about an hour's drive from the port of Rotterdam, is the birthplace of Miffy creator and local resident Dick Bruna.

But Utrecht is more than the home of Miffy. It's the perfect place for a short break, with pedestrian quaysides lining a network of 14th-century canals, plus bars and restaurants, great shopping and an eclectic mix of tourist attractions.

Founded by the Romans, Utrecht is

Go Dutch in Holland's capital

almost 2,000 years old and was once the largest and most important city in Holland. Today, it is one of Holland's newest city-break destinations.

The focal point is the Dom Church and its tower. A nave once connected the two, but in 1674 this collapsed during a storm. The church and tower were never reconnected, and a street and square now separate the two structures.

Regular tours, with an English-speaking guide, start from the visitor centre and those with plenty of energy can climb the 465 steps to the top of the 112m tower.

The mechanically- and musically-minded, and those with a sense of fun, are sure to enjoy a visit to the nearby National Museum From Musical Clock To Street Organ.

The museum attracts thousands of visitors each year who come to see automatic musical instruments from the 15th century to today.

Our guide tells us that one of the favourite pieces with the public is the rather strange sounding Rabbit In A Cabbage.

But there's another rabbit on the block – and she can boast a museum of her own!

The Dick Bruna Huis is a must for Miffy aficionados of all ages. There are displays charting Bruna's extraordinary career for the grown-ups, while children can hear stories and play.

The Dick Bruna Huis is part of the Centraal Museum on the opposite side of the street. Highlights from the collection here include works by 17th-century Utrecht Caravaggists – who were inspired by Caravaggio – and 16th-century painter Jan van Scorel.

The Museum Quarter, as it's known, is easy to explore on foot and even includes an Aboriginal Art Museum.

For a different perspective on what the city has to offer, a canal cruise comes highly recommended, while Utrecht also boasts Holland's largest shopping mall, Hoog Catharijne.

This really is the city with everything.

YOUR TV REVIEW

■ BY TOM BETSS

 I'M RUNNING SAINSBURY'S
Channel 4, 9pm, Tuesday

BEFORE I entered into the world of journalism I worked in a branch of Sainsbury's for a while.

Well, six months and a day to be exact and I think it's safe to say it was possibly the worst half-year of my life.

I've paid my dues sticking six can multipacks of Diet Coke in perfect pyramid formations hour after hour.

I was only part-time, but each shift would grind on and on until it started to feel like time was actually going backwards as customers relentlessly marched towards me like wave after wave of the undead wanting only to know what aisle the pickled onions had been moved to.

In my time there what always struck me about the place was the snottiness of the general management team who seemed to think they operated on a higher plain than the rest of humanity, when they were in fact just running a regional supermarket which would make money if Scooby Doo and Shaggy were in charge.

With those painful days still kicking up their fair share of painful dust in my memory banks, I was looking forward to the new show from Channel 4, I'm Running Sainsbury's.

Indeed, running Sainsbury's was often a notion I wished I could put in practice as, time and again, I got a rollicking for squeezing four rows of Pringles into the gap where there should only have been three.

This four-part show lets those who spend their time on the shop floor take over from the usual managers.

Britain's oldest supermarket chain, which is said to make up to £30,000 a

CHECK IT OUT: I'm Running Sainsbury's sees shop floor staff take charge of the supermarket minute, is intent on uncovering some super new ideas from the staff.

Chief executive Justin King reckons those who do most of the donkey work should get their say in how to make the store a better place for everybody and all this definitely does not have anything to do with free advertising during a prime time slot – okay!

If nothing else I guess they are really sticking to the message of their latest slogan "try something new today".

It should be fascinating watching the staff try to make an impact and it should be even more interesting to see if the store takes any of their ideas on board once the hype and publicity from the whole process has died away.

If nothing else, I guess it can't be any worse than Supermarket Sweep...

PROPERTY NEWS

Small building firms call for cut in VAT

A CALL for a VAT cut for small firms in the building sector could go some way towards boosting trade, according to a survey.

The Federation of Small Businesses claims a five per cent flat rate for home renovations could help small businesses "struggling against a backdrop of decreasingly bad trade".

The industry had pushed the Government heavily in the run-up to the Budget for a cut in VAT on renovation – after a decision in Europe allowed nations to drop the tax rate on a number of services.

A survey by the FSB showed 59 per cent of respondents in the building sector said their trade had fallen in the last six months, with 37 per cent concerned that their financial prospects were poor.

Almost half of those surveyed said it was the lack of demand that was fuelling the negative impact on their businesses. A key concern for business was the 15 per cent VAT rate.

John Walker of the FSB, said: "Confidence in the smaller building projects around the country has dropped to a low, and people who were thinking of adding an extension to their home, renovating their bathroom or building a garage, should be given the incentive to go ahead."

'Greater incentives are needed to go green'

POLICIES to reduce carbon emissions will fail without greater green incentives, a lobby group for property owners has claimed.

The British Property Federation (BPF) said real estate should be one of the easiest areas to make carbon emissions savings but the Government needed to encourage landlords and tenants to work together to make cuts.

Liz Peace, chief executive of the BPF, said: "The Government should explore how the tax system might be used to incentivise improvements by altering the conundrum we have over how the benefits from improvements are shared between landlords and tenants."

The BPF said the Government had ignored the fact that most commercial property was rented.

Ms Peace said: "This means landlords cannot simply walk into a tenant's shop, for example, and turn the lights off. Therefore, any incentives and responsibilities for improving energy performance are widely split between the two groups."

How much are you paying for your HIP?

■ BY NICK AMES

THE Law Society is urging home-sellers to check the real cost of their Home Information Pack with their estate agent to avoid inflated costs.

The warning comes after a Channel 4 News investigation found evidence that more than £100 could be getting added to the price of HIPs because of secret payments to estate agents.

With many estate agents hiring HIP providers to supply home-sellers with the evaluation, the Law Society is calling on sellers to check very carefully how much their agent is charging for the HIP.

Law Society president Paul Marsh said: "The cost of the HIP charged to the home-seller by the estate agent could be much higher than necessary and more than the agent actually pays the HIP provider."

"Because of these hidden referral fees the estate agent is overcharging the seller and making a secret profit."

"Sellers should ask for details of the exact costs to discover if the agent is charging them more than they should be, and more than the HIP actually cost the estate agent."

"They should also ask if the estate agent is receiving a hidden commission from the HIP provider, which would mean the estate agents are keeping part of the cost themselves. If the agent is paying £300 to the HIP provider and then charging their client £400, the client is paying an extra £100 unnecessarily. With the other costs involved in selling, these added costs are unwanted extras.

"If sellers do find their agent is charging extra for their HIP they should ask their solicitor if they provide a HIP instead, as solicitors are required to be fully open with their clients about fees."

"The added benefit of using a solicitor is that they are all strictly regulated and required to follow stringent rules, unlike estate agents."

Concerns

In the latest legislation on house sales anyone hoping to sell their home needs a HIP in place before they can put the property on the market, raising the risk of quickly-arranged HIPs that are inaccurate.

The Law Society has also raised concerns over the new Property Information Questionnaires which are now a feature of HIPs, requiring sellers to answer questions about their home.

Mr Marsh added: "PIQs are supposed to provide information for potential buyers about the property, but if they are not completed correctly it could harm the relationship between buyer and seller, which is the last outcome anyone wants, especially now when the market is so slow."

"A solicitor will be able to assist in completing the questionnaire to ensure it is accurate."

CAREFUL: All smiles, but how much is your estate agent making on the deal?

MOTORS NEWS

Most new Prius prices pegged ahead of launch

TOYOTA aims to maintain the momentum of its green champion, the Prius, by defying recession pressures ahead of launching a new model this August.

So the range continues from £18,370 for the Prius T3 entry model while the T Spirit is also pegged at £21,210, though the mid-range T4 rises £835 to £19,990.

The Mark III version of the petrol-electric hybrid, which has soared in popularity, is claimed to have stronger performance, lower emissions, improved fuel economy and more equipment.

Jazz hits high note on safety and economy

HONDA'S soon to be British-built Jazz has added a safety plus to its reputation as a spacious and economical supermini.

It has been awarded the maximum five-star rating in Euro NCAP's newly overhauled rating scheme, which focuses on a single score for passenger, child and pedestrian protection plus driver safety aids.

This will further boost a car which will switch production to Honda's Swindon plant this autumn, delivering keener prices for recession hit drivers seeking a compact all-rounder.

Mercedes 'Swappage' deal tempts van users

MERCEDES-BENZ has a counter offer to van operators sidelined by the Government's Scrappage scheme – a £2,000 cash incentive whether users have a 10-year-old van to swap or not.

Promoted under the 'Swappage' banner, the deal is on the 109bhp turbodiesel engine Sprinter 311CDI and M-B is chipping in the full £2,000 discount rather than getting half from the Treasury.

The deal is also available on various purchasing arrangements: lease, contract hire or low rate finance.

EcoDrive, with consequent savings and a greener conscience.

The 1.2 500 model (0-62mph in 12.9 seconds) should average well over 50mpg anyway and is probably the best buy 500, although the modest £8,300 start price can be blown away by tempting options such as our car's black/chrome alloys (from £300).

And you need Lounge spec (from £9,700) to get a split/folding rear seat; the boot is not huge and you might want to flop down one seat to accommodate extra shopping or an awkward item, yet still carry a rear passenger. But Lounge spec brings air con and alloys as standard plus more.

The 500 interior is a pleasing mix of retro with modern materials of higher quality.

Some may scratch easily, but everything you touch feels tough, including the now trademark 'billiard ball' gear knob.

Inheriting the Fiat Panda running gear and chassis is not all good news; the ride can feel unsettled though the lighter weight of the 1.2 against the 1.4-litre petrol and 1.3-litre diesel, makes it feel more refined and more nimble, while still able to cruise the motorway comfortably.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

JAPANESE SUPERMINIS

SUPERMINIS were not something that Japanese carmakers used to 'do' with much style or verve. They were reliable, of course, but easily outclassed for image and style by European marques. But that changed with the original Toyota Yaris, designed for Europe and made in a country that champions the supermini type, France. The Yaris now faces its stiffest competition from fellow Japanese manufacturers in the form of the quirky-looking yet robust Nissan Micra and Mitsubishi Colt. All three make a style statement, but are also practical and reliable.

MITSUBISHI COLT

THIS stylish little car proved to be a lifeline for Mitsubishi dealerships, stuck in a 4x4 time warp and starved so long of mainstream car models to attract a different customer. The Colt is offered in three forms: an MPV-style five-door with masses of space, a lower-slung and pugnacious sporting three-door or a neat Colt convertible (pictured). The CZT three-door hot hatch version is a good second-hand 'pocket rocket' for the money, but the whole range delivers a decent drive.

TOYOTA YARIS

TOYOTA'S original mould-breaking supermini (pictured) was replaced in 2006, but the second generation car has built upon its reputation for space within eye-catching dimensions; a Yaris of any age makes a decent used buy. The original also spawned the hugely versatile Verso estate-cum-MPV. The Yaris driving experience is classy too, but the years are becoming less kind to the interior design and visual quality of the original car despite the trendsetting sliding rear seats.

NISSAN MICRA

BORING Nissan? Well, the current Micra has blown that myth apart (pictured). This is the supermini that says you don't have to conform to style to be space-efficient and you don't need a French badge to be chic – although Renault now owns Nissan. The Micra still turns heads and looks 'right' in three or five-door form. It's affordable and reliable, available with excellent diesels and marketed with stylish trim in the dearer versions and there are even some performance models.

CRICKET

BY DAVID PRITCHARD

Kent Cricket League Division One
Lordswood CC 1st XI v
The Mote CC 1st XI

THE MOTE were leapfrogged by Lordswood at the top of Division One after their opponents won off the final ball of the game in a thriller at Martin Grove.

Matt Iles and Daniel Masters combined to score the critical runs at the death to clinch victory by three wickets.

The Mote went into the game unbeaten in their opening three fixtures of the season and they looked well set to extend the run after posting a competitive score.

Opener Tom Harvey provided the backbone to the innings, scoring 104 in a knock which included 13 fours and a six. He put on 117 with James Hodgson to make the Lords bowlers toil in the sunshine.

A quick fire 24 from Laurence Waters late on helped the visitors to a decent 226 for 4 from their 50 overs.

In reply, Lordswood were in trouble at 99 for 5, but were rescued by Chris Thompson. He fell just four short of a century, but the speed at which the runs came (102 balls) got Lordswood back in the game.

By the time Thompson was bowled by Kym Daley the Lords were just 18 runs short of victory. With the balls running out, Matt Iles and Masters held their nerve to see the Lords home off the final ball.

Mote lose in a final ball thriller against Lords

HITTING OUT: The Mote's batsmen put on a good show but it wasn't enough to earn them a win against Lordswood at the weekend

KENT FEEDER LEAGUE EAST 1A Yalding 1st XI v Deal Victoria

ANTHONY Shepherd took 4 for 32 and Jumshad Haider 3 and 40 as Yalding bowled Deal out for 144 in 334 overs at The Kintons.

Dushyanth Gnanappiragasam also took 2 for 46 as the visitors were dismissed for an eminently gettable target.

Yalding's chase was bolstered by a half-century opening stand between Shumshair Haider and Alistair Ratcliff and Scott Walker (50 not out) steered them home in the 50th over.

KENT LEAGUE DIVISION FIVE 2ND XI Offham 2nd XI v Gravensend RFC 2nd XI

OPENER Gary Evans made 57 and Adam Kent 36 as Offham posted a competitive total of 223 for 9 from 50 overs, but with nobody other than Evans reaching the half-century mark, the score looked a little short.

Phillip Carpenter removed Gravesend opener John Hollands relatively cheaply, but despite two wickets for Ben Regan, Adrian Stone's unbeaten 79 steered the visitors through in the 50th over, with six wickets down.

Reeves and Farrance reunite for TT return

Picture: WALLY WALTERS

RARING TO GO: Tim Reeves is ready to take on the Isle of Man TT course once again in a bid to join the list of winners

THE top step of the podium is all multiple world sidecar champion Tim Reeves is thinking about as he bids to win the Isle of Man TT in only his second attempt this weekend.

The Maidstone-based racer will reunite with Tenterden passenger Patrick Farrance to tackle the 102nd running of the famous road race.

The pair stunned spectators on their debut last year by mastering the tricky 37.7-mile course to record a third place finish. The result was the best rookie finish for 30 years. Reeves described his third place last year as his greatest achievement, despite having three world titles to his name.

MOTORSPORT

After tasting success last year, he is determined to build on his TT portfolio and clinch the title, adding to his growing list of achievements in the sport.

However, he will be hoping the mechanical problems, which halted his progress in World Sidecar Championship last month, have been cured.

Practice sessions around the notorious road course began on Saturday and continue throughout this week. The first race of two will be held on Saturday afternoon.

HOME FOR NOW: Maidstone will play at Homelands

Ashford look set to play host to Stones

CONFIRMATION is expected this week that Maidstone United will be playing their home games at Ashford Town's Homelands ground next season.

The Stones' first confirmed friendly will be a nominal away game against Ashford on Tuesday, July 21, followed two days later by a trip to Salters Lane to play Faversham Town.

On Tuesday, July 28 United are away to Chatham Town – the closest they will play to the county town all season – and on August 8 they face Ramsgate at Southwood.

The club are looking to play four further friendlies, with the first of these on Tuesday, July 14.

The constitution of the Ryman Premier Division has been announced and as expected, Margate have been handed a reprieve from relegation.

The Stones' longest road trip next year will be to Nyewood Lane, the home of Bognor Regis Town, who were relegated from the Conference South.

Mercer marvels at speed as he takes to Isle of Man

MOTORSPORT

BY TOM HOWARD

STEVE Mercer has been pleasantly surprised by his pace in the opening practice session of his debut in the notorious Isle of Man TT.

The Maidstone rider took to the famous 37.7-mile road course at racing speeds for the first time on Saturday. The 27-year-old, who is taking part in a three-year apprenticeship deal for the event, was delighted to finally get on the course after studying DVDs and learning the course via computer games.

He admitted the danger of the event entered his mind in the opening laps, but he soon settled into a rhythm. Mercer believes he will be fully up to speed in time for the first race on Saturday and was astonished by the concept of racing at speed of 180mph on a road course.

He said: "It is absolutely fantastic to finally get out there and complete some laps. I have surprised myself with my pace and I really feel at home here."

"I have to admit when I went out on the first lap it was a little daunting, but I soon got to grips with it. It is certainly easier than playing it on a Playstation. I can't stay on the bike on the computer game. I can't believe that it is possible to go this fast on a road course without it being illegal."

ASTONISHED: Steve Mercer was shocked at the speeds clocked as he took part in his first practice session ahead of his debut race in the Isle of Man TT

Mercer will take part in a number of timed practice sessions this week building up to the first race. With this year's event his debut TT, every session is vital to gain experience and confidence on the circuit, which has claimed more than 200 lives in its 102-year history.

He said: "It is all about confidence. Even though the session was untimed I know my pace was well off the leaders, but I was getting faster and faster as the session went on."

"I think 95 per cent of the corners are taken blind, so if you have the confidence to turn these you will record a fast time. Building my confidence up is the main task this week."

Mercer will complete a qualifying session today and tomorrow before he embarks on the first of two superbike races this Saturday.
